OPERATIONS BUREAU-MEDICAL

From x-rays, dental care and lab tests to doctor-prescribed medicines, medical services are key to protecting inmates' health and safety. Some conditions may be factors in criminal behavior, so providing access to appropriate medical care while behind bars can begin the road to recovery and provide a plan for care once they leave.

OPERATIONS BUREAU-MEDICAL

Nurses work 24/7 to meet the medical needs of the inmates. But sometimes, a person needs to be seen at the hospital. If that happens, we can take them, or when necessary, call for an ambulance to transport them. Once there, they can be seen in the ER or admitted for additional care and follow-up.

Mental health specialists saw nearly

of the inmate population and 49%

were seen by mental health professionals.

A large number of people coming into the Newport News City Jail are in need of psychotropic medication—drugs that affect a person’s mood, behavior, perception, and thoughts. While medications are not a cure for mental illness, they can help manage the symptoms.

OPERATIONS BUREAU-MENTAL HEALTH

People with mental illness can face new challenges when they are incarcerated. They have unique needs and our staff looks for signs that indicate a person could be struggling. Putting someone on a watch lowers the risk of self-harm. Medical personnel also make rounds to ensure an inmate’s well-being.

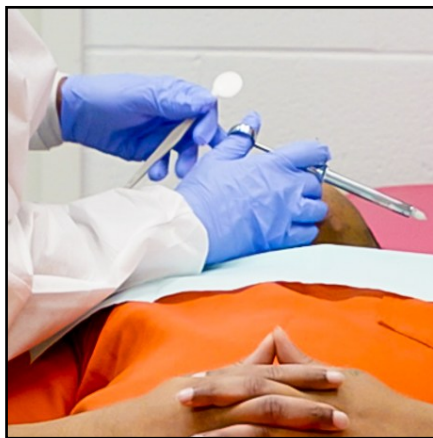

Sentinel Events

In 2024,

There were 44 suicide attempts and one suicide.

OPERATIONS BUREAU-DENTAL

Dental services are provided to inmates. In 2024, 473 inmates received dental care.

SERVICES BUREAU-COURT SECURITY

Court Security personnel are responsible for the orderly conduct of court proceeding and safety of everyone who enters the Newport News Courthouses — the judges, juries, attorneys, and citizens who have business in them.

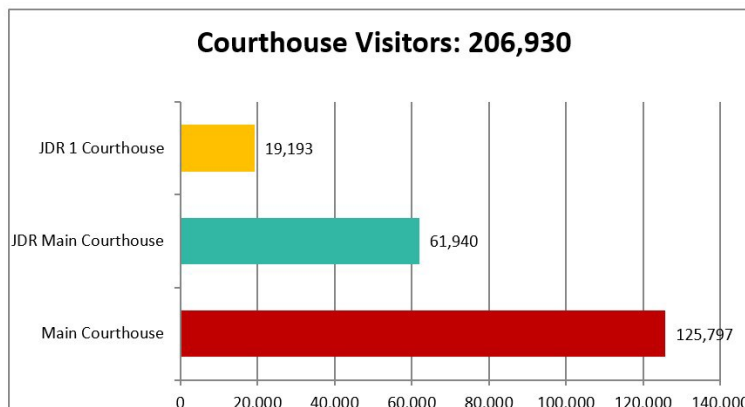

In 2024, more than 200,000 people visited the three Newport News courthouses without incident.

SERVICES BUREAU-COURT SECURITY

Everyone at the Newport News Sheriff’s Office is prepared to respond to emergencies in any of the courthouses. Thankfully, those situations are rare, but we train for them because we have to be ready.

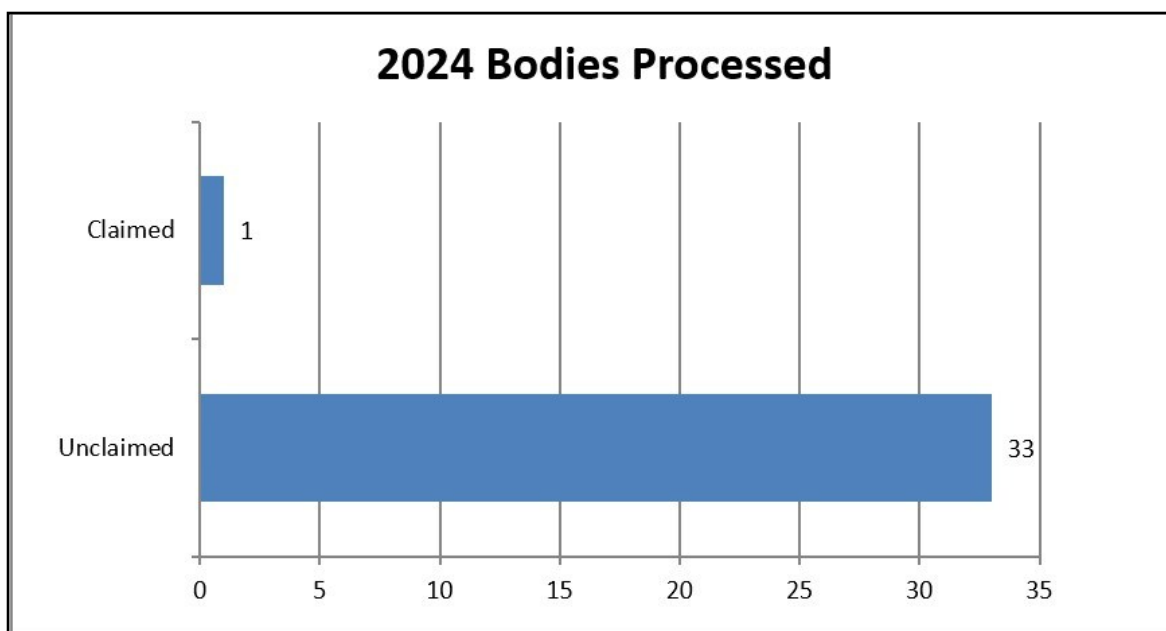

SERVICES BUREAU-COURT SECURITY

Not everyone facing charges goes right to jail. They receive bond or are issued a summons to show up in court later. If convicted, we use the LiveScan system to get their fingerprints, take their mugshots, and get DNA in some cases. In 2024, more than 800 people were processed for incarceration using this technology.

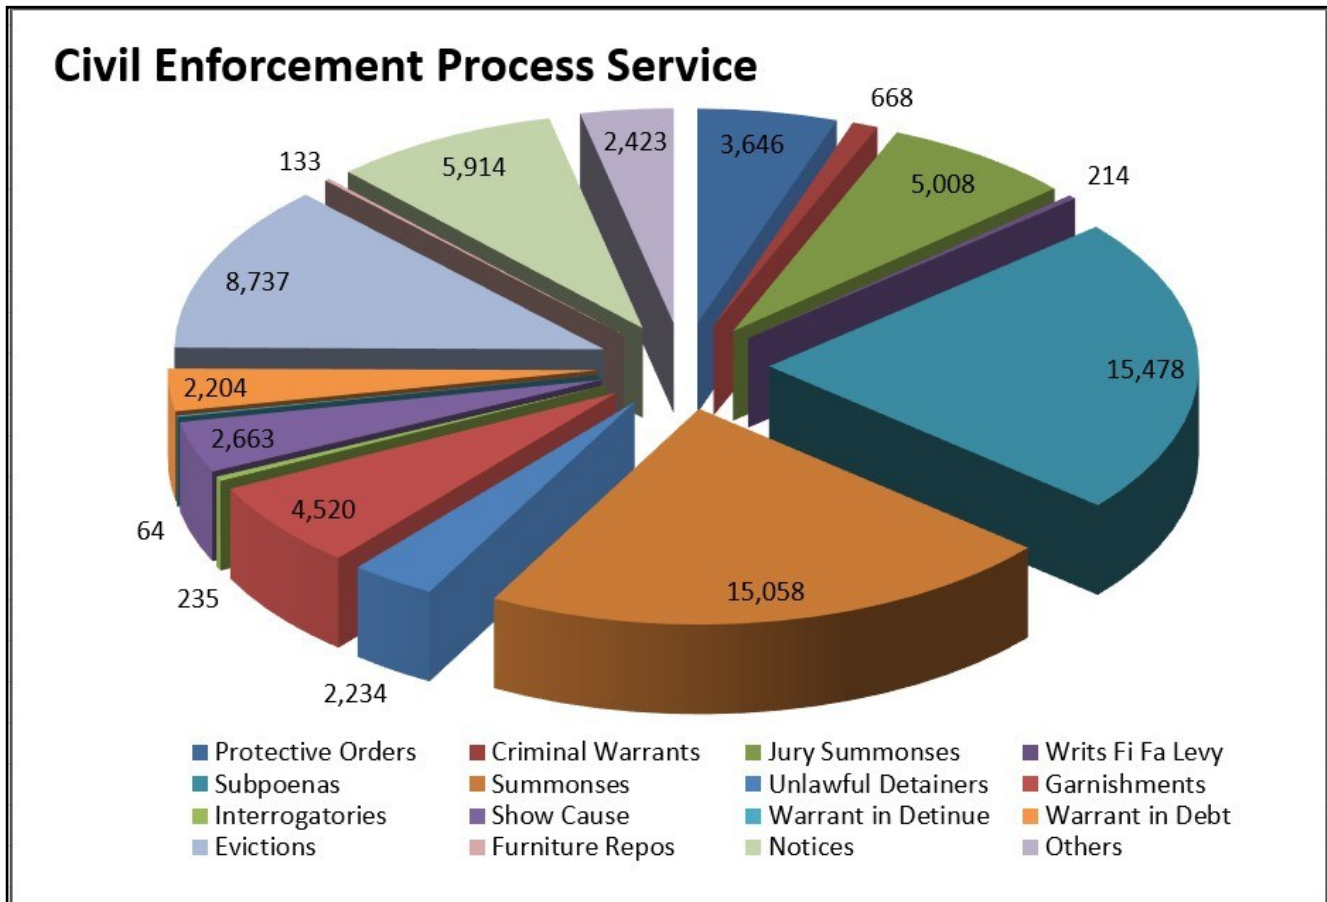

Another responsibility of the Services Bureau is to try to find relatives of people who have died and their remains have not been claimed. When no next-of-kin is found or when relatives do not want to claim the deceased, we go to court for a judge to approve the dignified disposition of the body.

SERVICES BUREAU-CIVIL ENFORCEMENT

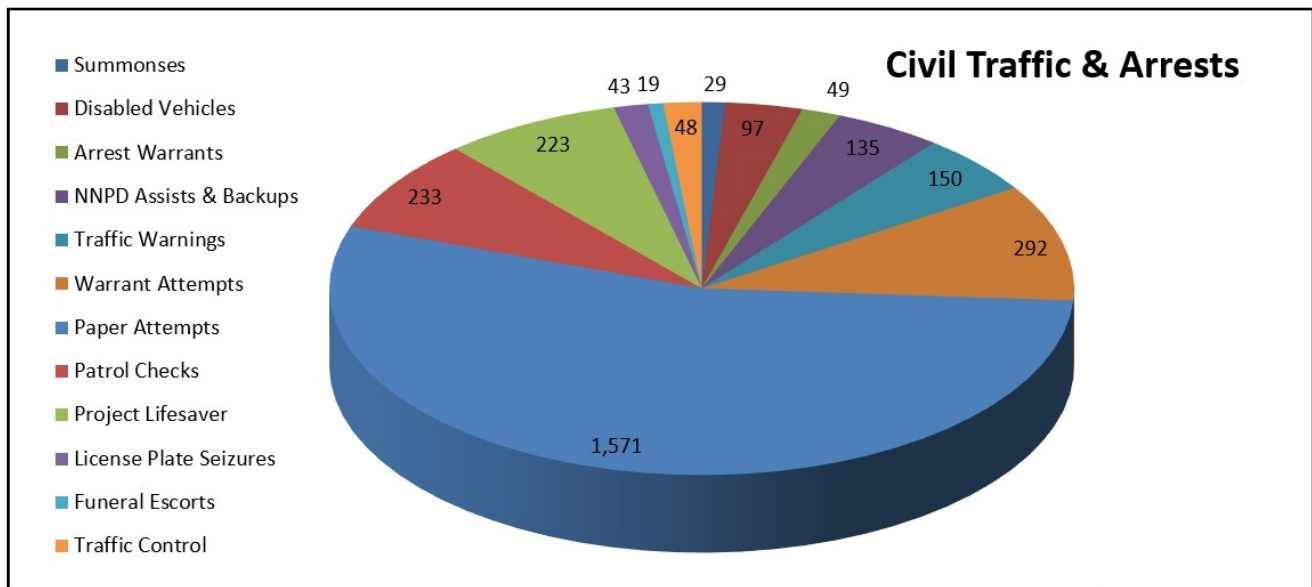

Civil Enforcement deputies spend most of their day out of the office serving papers and taking actions that are ordered by the courts. Among the documents we deliver are summonses, subpoenas, and protective orders. Deputies are also responsible for evictions in conjunction with property managers, levies, and they conduct property auctions from time to time.

Civil deputies connect with families enrolled in our Project Lifesaver program, checking on them and making sure the equipment their loved one wears is working properly. Batteries in the tracking anklets and bracelets are replaced every 30 days. Those bracelets help us find children and adults who wander away so we can return them to their loved ones.

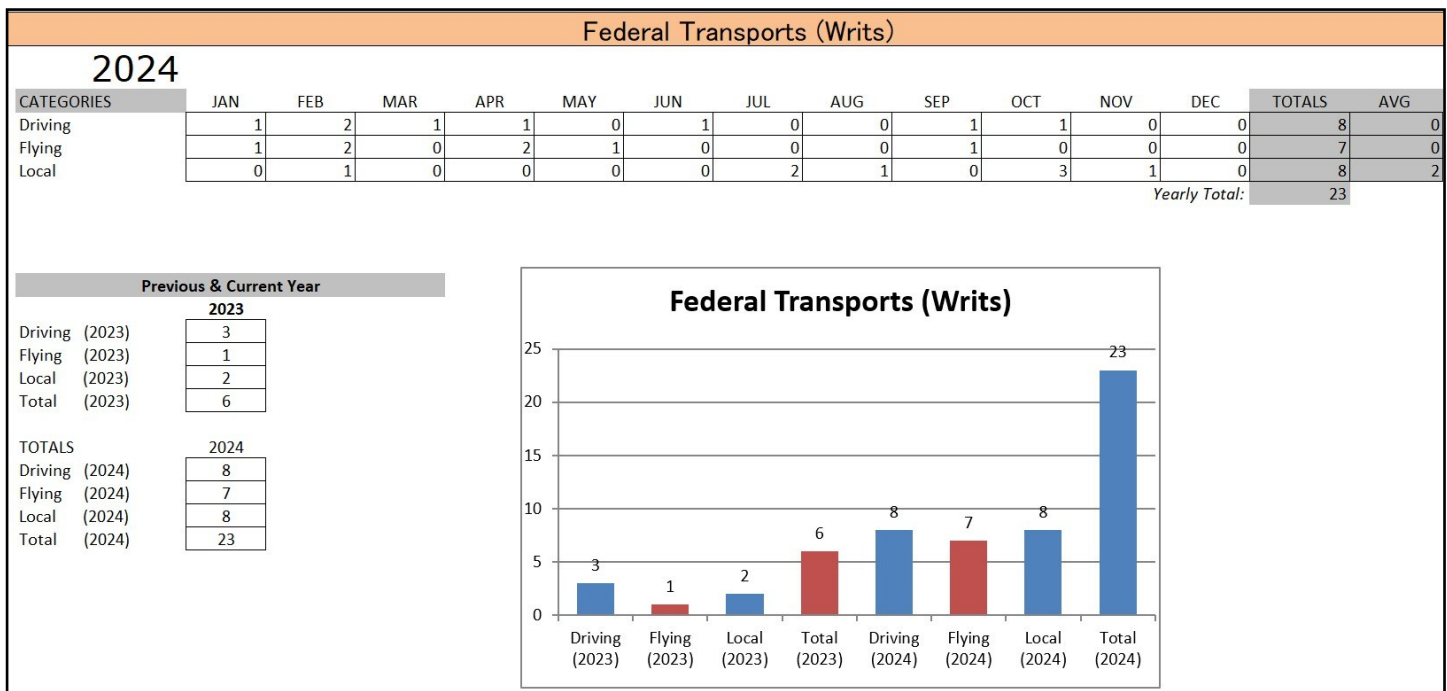

Capt. Gross checks the anklet worn by a Project Lifesaver child.

SERVICES BUREAU-TRANSPORTATION

Transportation of inmates falls to the Services Bureau. Deputies move incarcerated persons to and from courts in other cities, to penitentiaries, and take them to medical appointments outside the Jail and Annex. There were more than 2,300 transports in 2024.

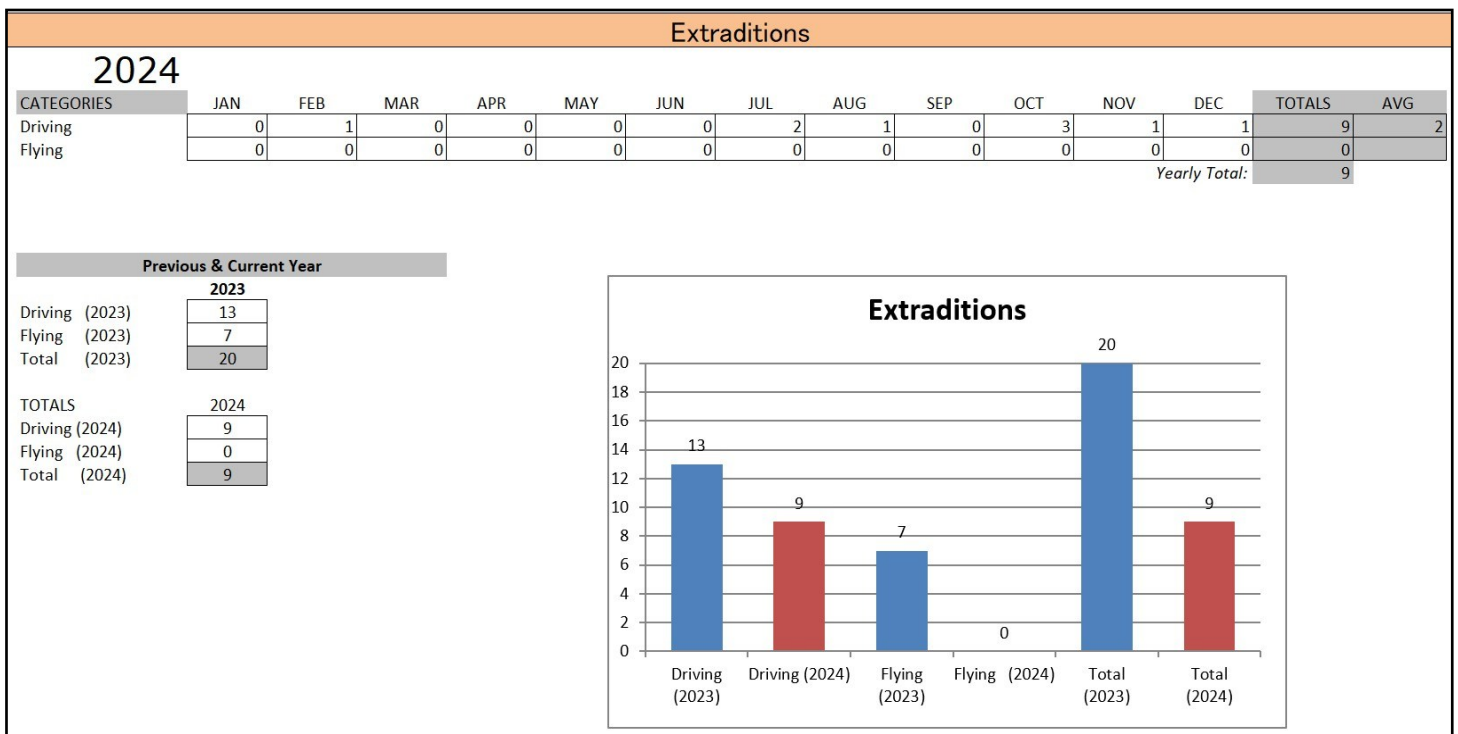

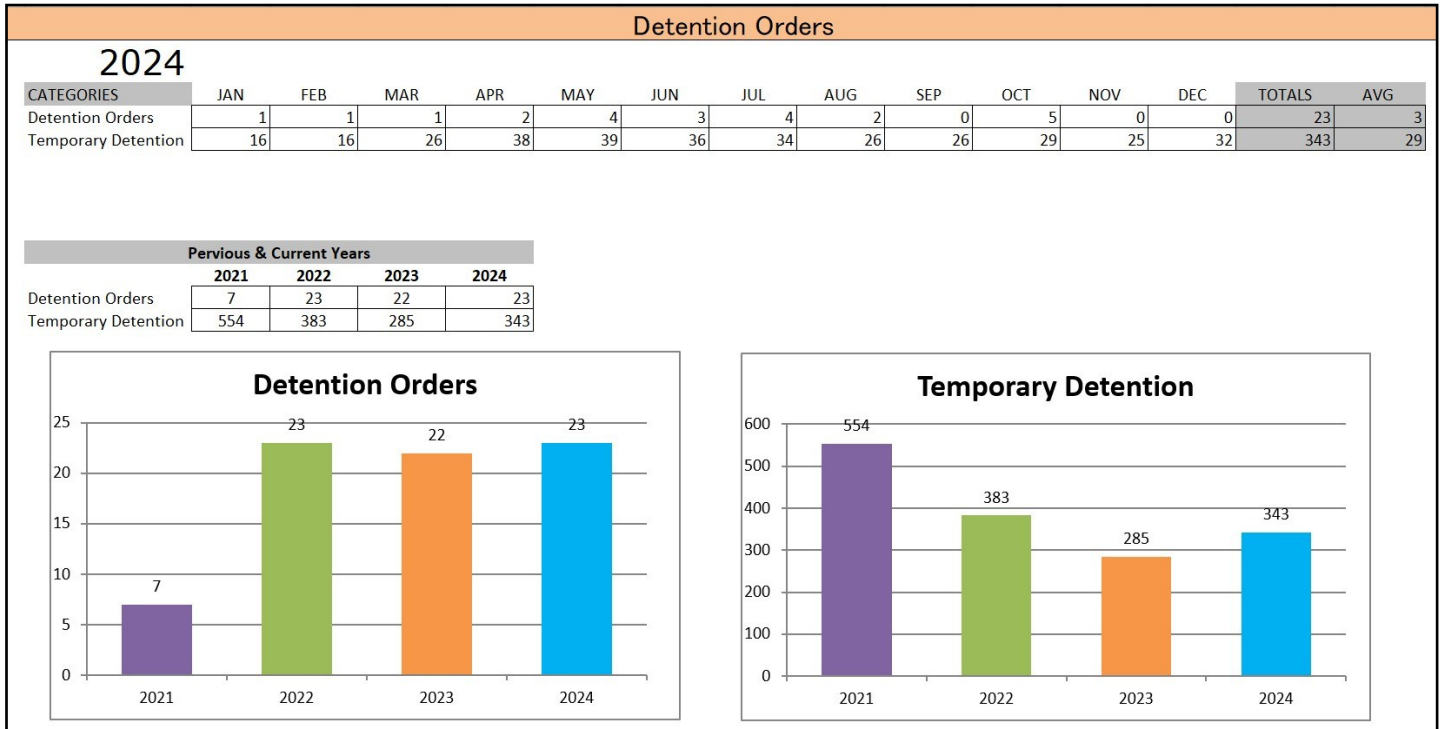

A writ is a written order issued by a court commanding a specific incarcerated person be brought to court. Transportation deputies ensure prisoners are moved safely and efficiently, whether by vehicle or airline.

SERVICES BUREAU-TRANSPORTATION

Services deputies also handle Detention Orders, Temporary Detention Orders (TDOs) and extraditions. Extraditions are performed by driving or taking a commercial flight. There were fewer extraditions and more TDOs and detention orders than in previous years.

SERVICES BUREAU—SHERIFF'S WORKFORCE

The Sheriff's Workforce is comprised of deputy sheriffs who oversee and work alongside inmates who have been vetted to work in the community. Crews stay busy all year putting up tents for city events, mowing and edging city streets and right-of-ways, moving furniture and boxes of documents to city storage sites, and coordinating with the city's 311 center to respond to citizen complaints.

The Workforce saved the city more than $1 million in 2024.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS BUREAU-RECRUITING/RETENTION

The Newport News Sheriff's Office continues to rise to the challenge to find men and women who meet the requirements to serve the community as a deputy sheriff. Our dynamic recruitment strategy has greatly reduced the application-to-offer time frame. The year 2024 saw a six percent increase in the number of applicants compared to 2023. However, about four percent of all applicants made the cut, which didn't keep up with turnovers due to retirements or resignations. Most new employees in 2024 were Black and African-American women, continuing our commitment to have a diverse workforce that reflects the Newport News community.

ADMINISTRATION-BUDGET AND PERSONNEL

More than 200 men and women filled full-time sworn and civilian positions at the NNSO in 2024. The majority work in Operations, the bureau for all jail functions, which includes booking, corrections, records, and maintenance.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS BUREAU-RECRUITING/RETENTION

The 14-days-a-month work schedule with no rotating shifts and fixed days off meet the demands of today's applicants who want a positive work-life balance. Our salary and benefits package is one of the best in the region, helping us keep people longer instead of them moving from job to job. Overtime shifts and extra duty assignments and other incentives help employees reach their financial goals.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS BUREAU-INVESTIGATIONS

Professional Standards personnel handle all kinds of investigations.

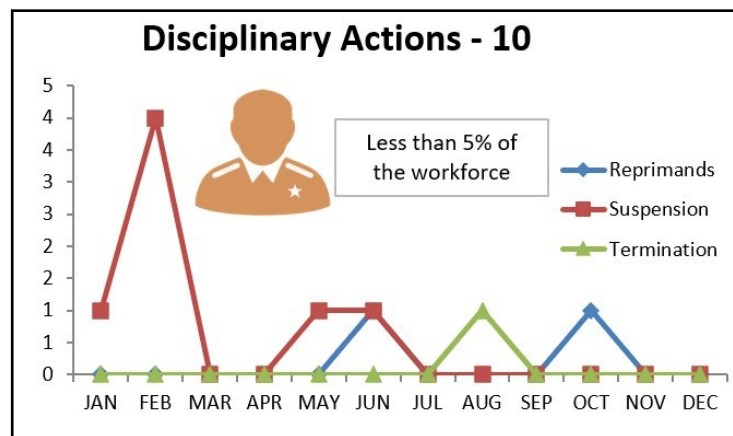

Members review incidents reported inside the NNSO, whether by or about an employee, contracted worker or inmates. They also work with state and federal agencies conducting criminal investigations throughout Hampton Roads.

We are stronger together because our partnerships address important community issues and lead to positive outcomes that benefit everyone.

The NNSO received and processed fewer concealed weapons permit applications in 2024 than the previous year. Virginia law § 18.2-308.02 sets specific criteria for those who want a five-year permit to carry a concealed handgun.

The Professional Standards Bureau conducts background checks to help ensure that a person isn't prohibited from legally possessing a firearm. The applications include initial permits and renewals.

PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS BUREAU-K-9

The NNSO has three K-9 deputies. They and their handlers work to keep people safe. They're not always seen, but their work is vital.

Dep. Cammel and Shiva at Handler Graduation.

Balko is an explosives detection canine. He and handler Sgt. Childs respond to bomb threats and conduct operations to help ensure safety at community events and various city buildings.

JAIL OPERATIONS

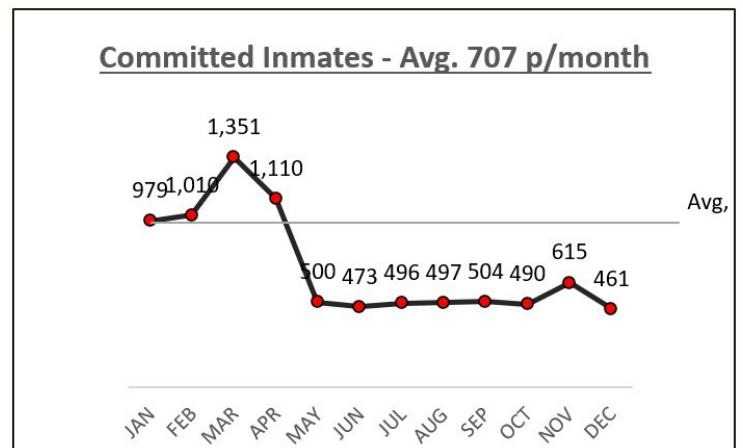

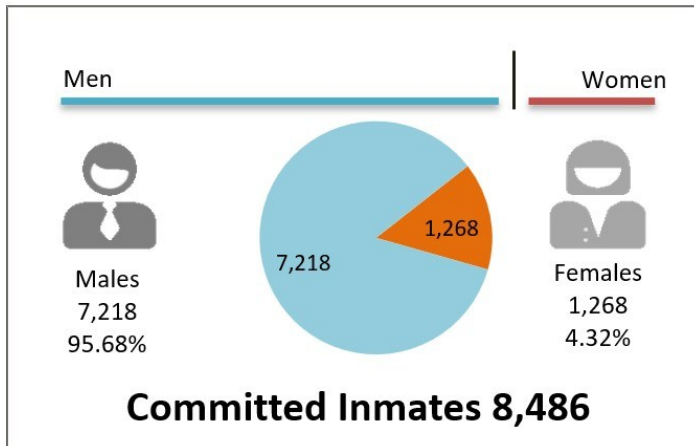

The Operations Bureau manages all that goes on inside the Newport News City Jail and Annex.

It is like a small city with hundreds of people who depend on the NNSO for housing, food, medical services, sanitation, laundry and more.

Deputies working in the jail also provide security to ensure the safety of the employees and the inmates who are held there while awaiting court hearings or serving their sentences. In 2024, the jail was a temporary home for approximately 8,486 men and women.

JAIL OPERATIONS—BOOKING

We track intakes and releases so we know how many people are in custody and leaving custody on any given day. That allows our deputies, medical staff, and the re-entry team to help those who are new to our facility and to assist returning citizens transition back into their communities.

JAIL OPERATIONS—CLASSIFICATION

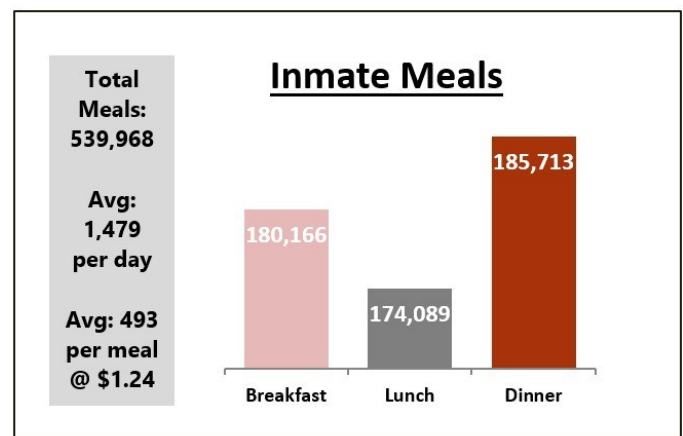

Housing decisions are made through the classification process. In 2024, the main jail and annex held an average of 475 people per month. Once a person is booked, we keep detailed records to determine housing assignments, medical and specials needs and for tracking where inmates are located. That kept the kitchen busy preparing 1,132 meals a month on average.

JAIL OPERATIONS-MAINTENANCE

Our Jail Maintenance division is comprised of deputies and select inmates with skills to get jobs done. That way, we don't have to hire people to do the work.

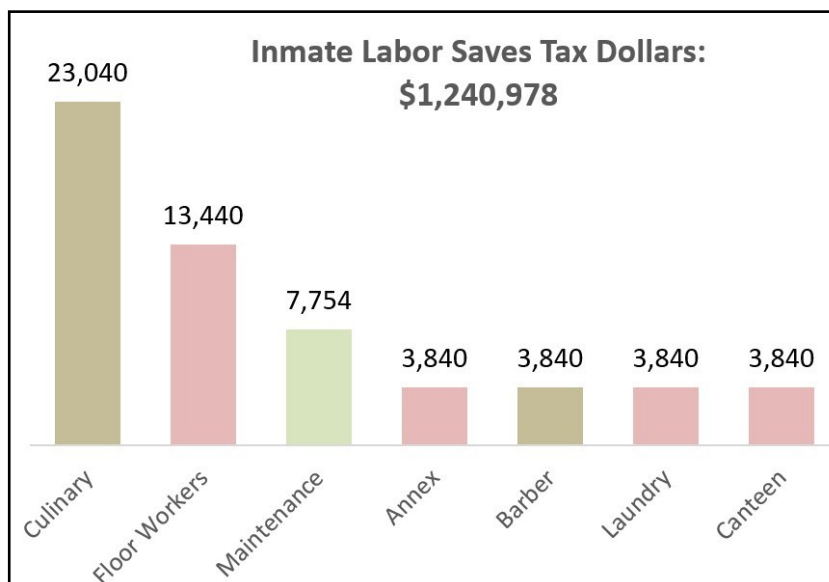

Deputies learn how to make keys.

JAIL OPERATIONS-MAINTENANCE

Several projects requiring skilled labor saved taxpayers more than $18,000.

These jobs, completed by trustees and deputies, included painting, deliveries, moving heavy equipment, floor cleaning, waxing and buffing, and removing and replacing carpeting throughout the Sheriff's Office.

JAIL OPERATIONS-MAINTENANCE

As you can imagine, housing thousands of inmates per year creates a lot of laundry. Staff and trustees clean bedding and clothing in the jail laundry. Sheriff Morgan also has them clean the bedding used by homeless shelters that operate in winter.

Bags of linens are brought to the jail. We clean them so they can be picked up the next day. This helps prevent the spread of disease in the close quarters of a shelter.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH AND PROGRAMS

We invest in hope and healing. We believe that someone's past does not have to define their future. Our Community Outreach and Programs Bureau offers classes, training and help to people who want to better themselves while they are incarcerated. These are voluntary programs, although some can be mandated by a judge as part of an inmate's sentence. Programs for self-improvement and preparation for returning to the community, i.e., Re-Entry, were the most popular.
